

LEOGEN GENETIC DIVERSITY PROJECT

DO YOU WANT TO GET INVOLVED?

The LeoGen project seeks to improve the health and vitality of the breed through increasing diversity. The so-called 'closed studbook' method of breeding pedigree dogs, which has been in place since the Victorian era is becoming unsustainable. The world of pedigree dog breeding badly needs a new model. That is the goal of LeoGen. If you would like to be a part of this and feel that you have the skills and experience needed, why not consider joining our Puppy Guardian Homes team?

The success of the LeoGen will rely on building a network of dedicated helpers who are willing and able to take in puppies and raise them within their own family homes with all of the love, care and attention to detail that will be vital to the project's success. Equal attention to nutrition, thoughtful exercise, thorough socialisation and training as well as love and security will all be necessary for every puppy to reach their full potential and this will take a community of helpers who share our vision.

The progress of every puppy will need to be carefully followed throughout their lives with health results, temperament and longevity outcomes all carefully monitored as part of the overall programme. Some puppies may ultimately be invited back into the project to become the parents of further generations. All should be raised to become much loved companions and this is the role of our Guardian Home families.

If you are living in Britain or Finland and think that you might like to become a part of this exciting project, why not think about joining our Guardian Home team?
